ESSENTIAL COMMODITIES (AMENDMENT)
ORDINANCE, 1964.

The Essential Commodities (Amendment) Ordinance, 1967.

No. F. 37 (59) Ind. (A)/67

INDUSTRIES (A) DEPARTMENT

Dated, Jaipur, 16th November, 1967.

To,
All Collectors

Subject:—The Essential Commodities (Amendment) Ordinance, 1967.
Sir,

I am directed to say that the Ministry of Commerce (Civil Supplies), Government of India has sent the Essential Commodities (Amendment) Ordinance, 1967 promulgated by the President in the Eighteenth Year of the Republic of India on 16th September, 1967. The objectives of the amending Ordinance are detailed below:—

The Santhanam Committee had recommended in its report that the Essential Commodities Act, 1955, should be suitably amended so as to include also directions given under orders issued under the Act. In order to achieve this, the main Act has been amended by the present Ordinance to include directions under an "order" issued under the Act. (Cl. 2 of the Ordinance).

It was brought to notice that enforcement staff were experiencing difficulties in seizing books of accounts and other documents to be produced as evidence in a court of law. It has now been provided for seizure of books of accounts and documents and for their return after copies thereof have been kept (Cl. 4 of the Ordinance).

Previously, Section 6A of principal Act relating to confiscation by District authorities was applicable only to foodgrains, edible oilseeds and edible oils. The powers of confiscation have now been extended to all essential commodities by this amending Ordinance (Cl. 5 of the Ordinance).

Amendment to section 6B of the principal Act has been made which are of a consequential nature (Cl. 6 of the Ordinance).

Section 6B of the principal Act has been amended to include all essential commodities instead of only foodgrains, edible oilseeds and edible oils and for the payment of compensation for all essential commodities that are confiscated in respect of which orders or confiscation are set aside subsequently by a court (Cl. 7 of the Ordinance).

The penalty provisions of the Principal Act have been amended for the following purposes.

From experience it has been seen that wherever an order under the Essential Commodities Act has been contravened, the offender could put forward the plea of ignorance of the provisions of the legislation or of the orders issued thereunder. The present amendment exculdes mens rea (guilty mind) from the ingredients of offences under the Act and makes offence committed whether knowingly, intentionally or otherwise punishable (Cl. 8 of the Ordinance).

Provision has been made for a minimum sentence of imprisonment of one month for second or subsequent offences under the Act (Cl. 8 of the Ordinance).

Provision has also been made for forfeiture by a Court, of packages, coverings or receptacles in which the property is found alongwith the animal vehicle, vessel or other conveyance used in carrying such property (Cl. 8 of the Ordinance).

The period of punishment for certain offences has been increased from three years to five years (Cl. 8 of the Ordinance).

In case of second and subsequent offences, the Court, by which a person is convicted, shall, in addition to any other penalty, suspend business in the essential commodity, in respect of which a contravention has been committed, for a period not less than six months (Cl. 8 of the Ordinance).

All offences under the Essential Commodities Act have now been made cognizable and bailable (Cl. 10 of the Ordinance).

The provision for summary trials under section 12A of the Essential Commodities Act has been extended for a further period of two years viz., upto the 31st December, 1969 (Cl. 11 of the Ordinance).

The Essential Commodities (Amendment) Ordinance, 1967, has been published in the Government of India Gazette, Extraordinary, dated the 16th September, 1967.

A copy of the amending Ordinance alongwith a copy of press note and a list of Commodities declared so far as Essential Commodities under the Essential Commodities Act are also enclosed for doing the needful.
